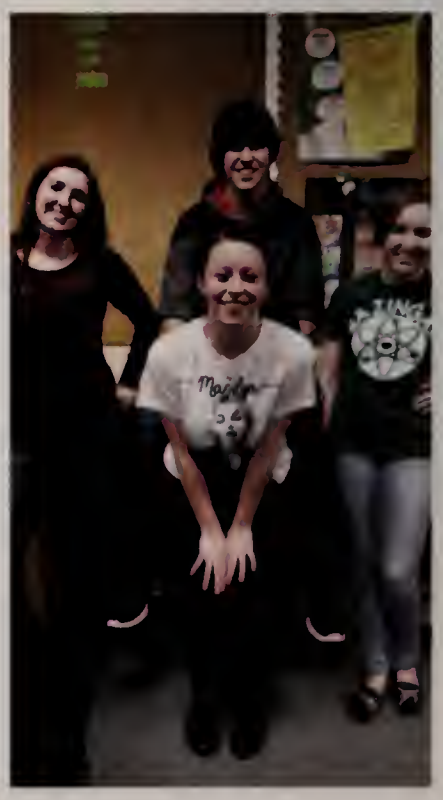
WERUNTH15



Dear Class of 2015,

As you look back into the yearbook remembering your high school friends, teachers, sports teams, and clubs, don't forget all the crazy things that have happened to our class over these past four years. Here's a countdown of the top 10 moments to remember:

10. Surviving lunch on the first day of school. As entering freshmen we heard that freshmen sit on either B3 or B1 because B2 was only for the upperclassmen. Remember texting your friends to coordinate?

9. Academic changes. Our class might have thought going into sophomore year that we knew everything about high school, but that was not the case. Remember coming in as sophomores, walking into school the first day, and all the room numbers changed? It felt like a Throwback Thursday to freshmen year. Not only did the rooms change but we said goodbye to semesters and hello to trimesters.More classes,fewer honors courses, and more AP options - it's all good.

8. Mr. Gorman and Ms. Foley taking over for Mr. Bosh and Ms. Parsons. Gorman became our advisor sophomore year and all we knew was that he had awesome socks and loved comic books. After spending our first year as our advisor, he still returned for two more years of craziness, but with him came Ms. Foley. Foley partnered up with Gorman our junior year and many instantly fell in love with her sense of style.

7. #BluePrideLivesHere. We welcomed Mr. Runey into our blue pride family sophomore year. As we grew together in his first year as Attleboro's principal, our class could recite on memory the Blue Pride motto: Personal Responsibility Is Developed Everyday. Not only did Runey bring with him a motto, he also brought more changes than we expected. Using Twitter and Facebook, Mr. Runey helped share our achievements with each other and the community. He also allowed us to sit 11 CHAIRS around one lunch table(as long as we promised to put them back). Thank you Mr. Runey for the past three years.

6. Powderpuff. We may have been defeated by the Class of 2014, but we didn't let that stop us from taking to the field again as seniors. The ladies of our class waited for the moment to defeat the junior girls in a game of flag football during the unseasonably warm fall we had senior year. The game got postponed and in the end it didn't go exactly how we planned with the score ending as a tie, but we all had fun.

5. Junior Prom. A night in Paris was the year of the bouncing dance floor. Over 100 kids danced on a small cut square into the floor and some feared it would break. Teachers could see the floor shake and bounce, making some wonder whether or not underneath the floor was a trampoline. It was a memorable part of the night, but the most memorable part was dancing with our friends.

4. Football stadium. Who could believe after years of talking about fixing Attleboro's old field and track that it would become a reality? Phillip Phillips' Home blared from the new speakers as the 2013 football team took to the field for the first time and made an amazing run for the state title making it to the State Tournament that year. Now all the AHS teams are proud to defend their TURF.

3. Mr. AHS. This year Mr. AHS was the one to beat with incredible dancers and with everyone being funnier than the last, the competitors made it a night to remember. Michael Jackson's spirit was alive when Michael Rivera Corretjer danced to Beat It and it was no surprise that the judges crowned him the 2014 Mr. AHS winner.

2. Senior spirit rally. "We believe...We believe that...We believe that we will win...We believe that we will win...We believe that we will win".. and we did! Seniors defeated the juniors on the half day before Thanksgiving.

1. SNOW! Every senior hopes and wishes for snow days we don't have to make up. Sometimes dreams come true. January 26th we embraced Blizzard Juno with open arms and had four snow days. Then it snowed again on Groundhog Day and we got another snow day. Up to 5, every seniors dream. We had a short week, a weekday, and another two snow days after that. They threatened February and April break and settled on a half day on Good Friday. We will take it as long as it stops snowing. We will always remember the record breaking snow and the days we didn't go to school.
